Obituary.

On Friday evening, October 13, 1905, Miss Ida Hurt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hurt, of Cumberland county, left this world for a brighter home above.

The deceased was a victim of consumption, age 21 years, a member of the Methodist church, was confined to her bed four weeks.

A number of friends and relatives visited her during her illness. The end came happily.

She told the minister that the whole world would not be as much comfort as her religion. She called every member of the family to her bedside and bade them farewell.

She told her mother she saw heaven and the gates were open; she saw the angels passing through the gates and coming down for her. Before she died she had some one to hold the lamp at the clock so she could see what time it was.

When she saw the beautiful angels coming for her she threw up her hand and said, "Good bye to all, I am going home," and breathed the last.

The remains were laid to rest Saturday evening in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

There was not an eye but what was filled with tears, and not one but what felt that they had one more friend in heaven.

They sang the songs, "I'll sail no more on the wild stormy sea, and "When the roll is called up yonder," then had prayer. Her funeral was not preached as her request was for Rev. C. R. Payne to do the preaching and he could not be there, but will be attended to in the future.

We have deep sympathy for her sorrowing father and mother, brothers and sisters. She has gone to that beautiful home where death comes no more. May we all live to meet her on that heavenly shore.

We miss thee from our home, dear Ida, we miss thee from the place, a shadow on our life is cast, we miss the sunshine of thy face.

We miss thy kind and willing hand, the fond and earnest care, our home is dark without thee, we miss thee every where.

Her cousin,
ZELLA FIELDS.

Watches Big Bucks Fight

Man Followed by Victor for Protection Against Timber Wolves Which Threatened Him.

Toledo, O.—One of the most remarkable marriage tangles ever known was presented to the authorities in probate court here, when Edward and Fred Metzger, twins, made application to marry sisters. When the clerk was preparing the papers it was learned that an elder brother of the twins had married a sister of the two prospective brides of the twins.

A look at the entry journal showed that in May, 1904, Albert Metzger, a brother, had married Ida Miller, the third sister. While the people in the court were having a good laugh at this, Edward spoke up and said: "Let me tell you something that will set you to thinking deeper. Our father is the husband of the girls' mother."

Lewis C. Metzger married Mrs. Christine Miller Metzger, and had three sons, two of them twins. Mrs. Miller had three daughters. Now the daughters become the brides of the sons of the other words, Metzger is the father-in-law of his stepdaughters, and Mrs. Metzger is the mother-in-law of the stepsons.

Mrs. Metzger was married four times. Her second marriage was to the brother of her present husband, but by that union she had no children.

Here are some of the puzzles set to work out: If your two brothers married sisters of your wife, what relation would your children be to your brother's children? If your brother's father took for his second wife the mother of the girls who are now the wives of the three sons?

In spite of all, the complication is entirely legal, because there is no blood relationship between the contracting parties.

MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Michigan Farmer Held by Immigration Officials—May Return to Europe.

New York.—August Albert, who says he voted for several presidents, has arrived in the steerage from Hamburg. Admitting he was not a citizen of the United States, but was a citizen of the state of Michigan, he was sent to Ellis Island and is likely to be sent back to Europe, unless the officials at Washington interfere.

Albert is 63 years of age, and had been an unmarried farmer in Michigan for 30 years, when he decided to visit his childhood home in Saxony. This was a year ago. Stunned by surprise when he was held up by the immigration officials, and because of his age he was likely to be refused admission to America. Albert showed $118 in American money to prove that he is not likely to become a public charge.

He declared he regarded himself still capable of working as a farmer. The special board of inquiry, after examining him, found that he speaks well. It is declared he must go back to Europe, but friends interceded in the matter and placed it before the department of commerce and labor. If the board is upheld, Albert will be a man without a country, as he was never a citizen of Saxony.

PHTHISIS CURE IS CLAIMED

Professor Behring Announces Discovery of Efficacious Remedy—Reporters Claim for News.

Paris.—Prof. Behring has announced that he had discovered a cure for tuberculosis. It is learned that a portion at least of Prof. Behring's remedy comes from milk from cows previously rendered immune against tuberculosis. As it is scarcely probable this milk can be used in its usual form, there is some reason for believing that a serum alone is employed, and it could scarcely be utilized in any other way than by subcutaneous injections.

The Pasteur Institute has been besieged by reporters clamoring for information. They were received by Prof. Metchnikoff, who pointed to Prof. Behring's scientific career as a guarantee of trustworthiness. He said the remedy was in the form of a powder. That is all he would say.

Clam Is Good Rat Trap.

Frank Myers, who keeps a Clayton, N. J., restaurant, was awakened by a noise in the lower part of a house. Thinking burglars were at work, he armed himself and descended the stairs. He then found the noise was in his cellar, and cautiously went below. The racket increased, and he hurriedly secured a lamp, to find that an immense rat had been caught by a clam. The rat, vainly trying to free itself, scampered from one clam to another, until it was finally killed by the rat, but the clam would not release its hold, and Myers was compelled to cut off the leg of the unfortunate animal.

Status to a Cook.

The people of New France are going to erect a statue to the memory of a cook, Urbain Dubois. He was for many years head cook for King William of Prussia, at a salary of $12,000 a year, but as soon as war was declared in 1870 he resigned to fight against his former master. The statue to the patriotic cook will appropriately be erected in the Centennial grounds.

THOUGHTS IN COLORS

RED MEANS LOVE, WHILE BLACK IS BLACK.

Theosophist Has a Package of Tints Which Betrays the Mind of Every One—Investigate.

London.—Theosophists have been a favorite topic for the young writers, and it is an idea that theosophist has, according to Mrs. Leadly, been seen in colors and by the rather austere "thought forms."

per ideas of this thought form in a book which the Theosophical society has just printed. Here are some of these "thought forms": "Red of all shades, the lurid brick-red to richest scarlet, indicates anger. If you have a clear brow, thought—you may be quite certain that this is your strong point, or your besetting sin; but if your thoughts show a hard, dull brown-gray it simply means selfishness—a color which is 'painfully common.'"

Deep, heavy gray signifies depression, while a livid pale gray is associated with fear. Gray-green is a signal of deceit, and brownish green, flecked with points and dashes of scarlet, betokens jealousy! Green seems always to indicate adaptability, but mingled with selfishness it becomes deceit. Affection expresses itself in all shades of crimson and rose. With a touch of blue of devotion in it this may express "a strong realization of the universal brotherhood of humanity."

Deep orange imports pride of ambition, and the various shades of yellow denote intellect, and dull yellow implies that such intellect is being devoted to selfish purposes.

The different shades of blue indicate religious feeling; "from the dark brownish-blue of selfish devotion, or the pallid gray-blue of fetish-worship tinged with fear, up to the rich deep clear color of heartfelt adoration, and the beautiful sea-blue of that highest form which implies self-revolution and union with the Divine."

Some of the illustrations in this extraordinary book are such as the red star of "radiating affection," the yellow disc with rose-colored wings, indicating "peace and protection." "Murderous rage" and "savage fury" are suggested by red fiery darts which emanate from the mind!

PEARLS "DIE" IN MUSEUM.

Necklace Valued at Over $100,000 Pines for Human Society—Losing Rich Luster.

Paris.—A pearl necklace of great intrinsic and historic value is "dying" in the Louvre museum. The necklace was part of the collection of President Thiers, and has a value of over $100,000. This appraisal is so low because the pearls have been suggested that the pearls be sold before they become entirely valueless.

The necklace has not been worn for a number of years, and it has lost practically all its beautiful luster. It is a well-known fact among pearl experts that pearls wear for human society, and that if handled from human contact they soon lose all the brilliancy and soft luster that make them so attractive.

Frequently pearls that are "dying," as the technical term in the pearl trade is, have been removed from their obscurity and worn frequently, and have thus recovered their lost luster.

While it has been suggested that personal influences have something to do with the matter, it is more likely that the effect is due to light and air. One can wear pearls for 50 years, and they would give no indication of change, yet if one were to look the same pearls up for 20 years, they would show signs of "dying."

ORIGIN OF "LID IS ON."

Expression Was Heard First in Mt. Clemens, Mich.—Story of How It Started.

Mt. Clemens, Mich.—"The frequent use of the expression, 'the lid is on,' brings to mind the fact that it originated in Mt. Clemens," said an old resident here.

"It was 15 years ago that 'Tad' Sackett was standing in front of the Sherman house, and in a spirit of fun, wagered with a companion that the next man who came along would climb a telephone pole without standing on it. Sackett had the matter fixed beforehand, and a stylishly-dressed man carrying a suit case came along, and stepped upon the pole, looking up at it. At such action Sackett's companion took off his hat and wiped his brow in amazement.

"'Keep your lid on,' said Sackett to his friend, and added as the stranger opened his grip for a pair of climbers, and hastily went to the top of the pole, and stepped upon the top, but I don't think you will!"

The expression was readily adopted by the hosts of gamblers who then flocked to the Bath City, and was soon used to mean a cessation of gambling.

RED MEANS LOVE, WHILE BLACK IS BLACK.

Theosophist Has a Package of Tints Which Betrays the Mind of Every One—Investigate.

London.—Theosophists have been a favorite topic for the young writers, and it is an idea that theosophist has, according to Mrs. Leadly, been seen in colors and by the rather austere "thought forms."

per ideas of this thought form in a book which the Theosophical society has just printed. Here are some of these "thought forms": "Red of all shades, the lurid brick-red to richest scarlet, indicates anger. If you have a clear brow, thought—you may be quite certain that this is your strong point, or your besetting sin; but if your thoughts show a hard, dull brown-gray it simply means selfishness—a color which is 'painfully common.'"

Deep, heavy gray signifies depression, while a livid pale gray is associated with fear. Gray-green is a signal of deceit, and brownish green, flecked with points and dashes of scarlet, betokens jealousy! Green seems always to indicate adaptability, but mingled with selfishness it becomes deceit. Affection expresses itself in all shades of crimson and rose. With a touch of blue of devotion in it this may express "a strong realization of the universal brotherhood of humanity."

Deep orange imports pride of ambition, and the various shades of yellow denote intellect, and dull yellow implies that such intellect is being devoted to selfish purposes.

The different shades of blue indicate religious feeling; "from the dark brownish-blue of selfish devotion, or the pallid gray-blue of fetish-worship tinged with fear, up to the rich deep clear color of heartfelt adoration, and the beautiful sea-blue of that highest form which implies self-revolution and union with the Divine."

Some of the illustrations in this extraordinary book are such as the red star of "radiating affection," the yellow disc with rose-colored wings, indicating "peace and protection." "Murderous rage" and "savage fury" are suggested by red fiery darts which emanate from the mind!

PEARLS "DIE" IN MUSEUM.

Necklace Valued at Over $100,000 Pines for Human Society—Losing Rich Luster.

Paris.—A pearl necklace of great intrinsic and historic value is "dying" in the Louvre museum. The necklace was part of the collection of President Thiers, and has a value of over $100,000. This appraisal is so low because the pearls have been suggested that the pearls be sold before they become entirely valueless.

The necklace has not been worn for a number of years, and it has lost practically all its beautiful luster. It is a well-known fact among pearl experts that pearls wear for human society, and that if handled from human contact they soon lose all the brilliancy and soft luster that make them so attractive.

Frequently pearls that are "dying," as the technical term in the pearl trade is, have been removed from their obscurity and worn frequently, and have thus recovered their lost luster.

While it has been suggested that personal influences have something to do with the matter, it is more likely that the effect is due to light and air. One can wear pearls for 50 years, and they would give no indication of change, yet if one were to look the same pearls up for 20 years, they would show signs of "dying."

ORIGIN OF "LID IS ON."

Expression Was Heard First in Mt. Clemens, Mich.—Story of How It Started.

Mt. Clemens, Mich.—"The frequent use of the expression, 'the lid is on,' brings to mind the fact that it originated in Mt. Clemens," said an old resident here.

"It was 15 years ago that 'Tad' Sackett was standing in front of the Sherman house, and in a spirit of fun, wagered with a companion that the next man who came along would climb a telephone pole without standing on it. Sackett had the matter fixed beforehand, and a stylishly-dressed man carrying a suit case came along, and stepped upon the pole, looking up at it. At such action Sackett's companion took off his hat and wiped his brow in amazement.

"'Keep your lid on,' said Sackett to his friend, and added as the stranger opened his grip for a pair of climbers, and hastily went to the top of the pole, and stepped upon the top, but I don't think you will!"

The expression was readily adopted by the hosts of gamblers who then flocked to the Bath City, and was soon used to mean a cessation of gambling.

A Change in Singing.

[Written for The News.]

How wondrous are the changes now,
Since forty years ago;
When people sang to praise the Lord,
And now to make a show.
When "From Greenland's Icy Mountains

To India's Coral Strand,"
Made one almost stand on Jordan's shore
And view the promised land.
And now when some old brother sings
Those wondrous songs of old,
The music almost rends the skies
And charms the very soul.

How wondrous are the changes now,
Since forty years ago,
To praise the Lord in those good days
The people were not slow.

Their churches were of hewn logs built,
And all on Sunday went,
The parson preached, the people sang,
And God, His blessing sent.

They had no organs in those days,
The people sang by word,
And made such music as, I think,
Did surely please the Lord.

How wondrous are the changes now,
Since forty years ago,
When all who sang, did sing his praise
"From whom all blessings flow."

But now alas for those good songs
Their day is almost gone,
Likewise the singers of that day
Are going with the songs.

Yes all the songs have changed so much
What can these changes bring?
For tra la la to ah le bum,
Is all the people sing.

How wondrous are the changes now,
Since forty years ago,
For now they never sing the songs
That came used to know.

They say those songs are out of date
And does not that sound odd,
That songs of worldly praise should come
Before the praise of God?

It looks to me the time has come
By propheta long foretold,
When men would swap the love of God
For worldly praise and gold.

How wondrous are the changes now,
Since forty years ago,
For every thing that's written is sung
And singing is all the go;

But singing now has lost its charms,
It's music all has fled,
And when a song is sung three times
Its laid away as dead.

And thus the music of to-day
The soul will never stand,
Like "Jesus Lover of My Soul"
And "In The Promised Land."

How wondrous are the changes now,
Since forty years ago,
For now they never sing God's praise
In voices soft and low.

And when at last my time shall come
And I am forced to go,
I'll meet with singers who have sung
The songs of long ago.

Though now they're singing a new song
In that bright land above,
It's theme is just the song they'd sung
"Of Jesus and His love."

Breeding, Ky.

Since then, I have used it for over ten years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. ### Death of Mrs. Martha Pelly.

Mrs. Martha Pelly died last Saturday the 14th inst., and in commemoration of the dear departed, and the many dear friends who bear testimony of her spotless life, I submit the following lines for publication:

As it has pleased an all wise God in His dispensation to remove from our midst the kind and devoted mother, be it resolved that we, the pupils of Barnett's Creek school, and friends of the deceased, tender our heartfelt sympathy to our companions who are left to mourn the loss of one so justly dear.

The loss of a loving mother is one of the severest trials to which children of an affectionate nature can be subjected. But dear ones, during our brief sojourn here we must expect mournful visitations. Those blessings that make life desirable are of brief duration and more transient than even life itself.

Yet it is balm to the wounded heart to reflect that beyond this fleeting scene, from which the estimable and the good too soon often vanish there is a "far away home of the soul" in which farewells are never spoken and all tears are wiped away.

Alas, how fresh in our memory is the recollection of the parental love of the dear departed! Her life has been like the day—more beautiful in the evening; like the summer—aglow with promises, and like the autumn—rich with the golden sheaves, where good works and deeds have ripened on the field. All that was mortal is changed now, and clouded forever. But how great is the comfort to the bereaved ones, in the well ground assurance that the Good Shepherd "who careth for his flock's has taken your good mother into his own fold. Your mother has gone to Him who said "suffer little children to come unto me" and we know how soon our time may come. Oh that we all may meet in that bright and happy world where sorrow and sin and suffering are alike unknown. Dear friends, let us remember that woman is especially honored of God. The world of affection is her world, not that of man's ambition, in that stillness which most becomes a woman, calm and holy she sits by the fireside of the heart feeding its flames.

That a higher than human power may console and support you under this heavy stroke, is the earnest prayer of your friends and school-mates.

E. A. MACHAM.

A Dandelion Rite.

Often ends in a sad accident. To heal accidental injuries, use Buchan's Arnica Salve. "A deep wound in my foot, from an accident," writes Theodore Schuele, of Columbus, O., caused me great pain. Physicians were helpless, but Buchan's Arnica Salve quickly healed it." Soothe and heal burns like magic. 25c at T. E. Paull's, druggist.

Life is Embittered.

Life is too often embittered by the grievous pains and suffering caused by dyspepsia in one or another of its many forms. No other disease covers such a wide range of symptoms, or causes such varied suffering to its victims. Stomach ache, headache, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, constipation, fever etc.,—all are due to this one dreadful disease. No wonder that thousands are so enthusiastic over the cure of their dyspepsia, by Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It is a most potent, marvelous and universal cure. Try it. Sold by J. N. Page, of Columbia, and R. B. Wilson, Cane Valley, at 50c and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

Frightful Suffering Relieved.

Suffering frightfully from the violent pains of indigestion food, C. G. Grayson, of Lodi, Miss., took Dr. King's New Life Pills, "with the result," he writes, "that I was cured." All stomach and bowel disorders gave way to their tonic, laxative properties. 25c at T. E. Paull's drug store, guaranteed.

Cheated Death.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had Kidney Trouble which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but Electric Bitters, which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand, since as I find they have no equal." T. E. Paull, druggist, guarantees them at 50c.

The hearty welcome given President Roosevelt and his party in Richmond, Va., the Old Confederate Capital, on the 18th, shows that we have one united and loyal people under a great flag, that sectional feelings no longer raise their hideous forms to obstruct the onward march of our country. The President spoke in part as follows:

Mr. Mayor, Governor and You, My Hosts: One among the very many great Virginians at the time when this nation was born—and I quote, gentlemen, Patrick Henry—said, "We are no longer New Yorkers, New Englanders, Pennsylvanians or Virginians; we are Americans; and surely, Mr. Mayor, the man would be but a poor American who was not touched and stirred to the depths by the reception that I have met with to-day in this great historic city of America. Coming to-day by the statue of Stonewall Jackson, in the city of Lee, I felt what a privilege it is that I, as an American, have in claiming that you yourselves have no more right of kinship in Lee and Jackson than I have. I can claim to be a middling good American, because my ancestry was half Southern and half Northern; I was born in the East and I have lived a good while in the West—so long, in fact, that I do not admit that any man can be a better Westerner than I am. There was an uncle of mine, now dead, my mother's brother, who has always been among all the men I have ever met the man who seemed to me came nearest to trying in the flesh, that most beautiful of all characters in fiction, Thackeray's Col. Newcome—my uncle, James Dunwoode Bulloch, an Admiral in the Confederate navy. In short, gentlemen, I claim to be neither Northerner, nor Southerner, nor Westerner, nothing but a good American, pure and simple. Next a man's having worn the blue comes the fact of the man's having worn the gray, as entitling him to honor in my sight. Last year I told Gen. Fitzhugh Lee that I wanted to add to my collection of autograph letters of great Americans—Lincoln, Grant, Clay, Jefferson (turning to the Governor) your name—sake, and Andrew Jackson, that of Gen. Lee with his autograph. I got from Gen. Fitzhugh Lee a letter of Gen. Lee's and a photograph of him was handed to me after Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's death. I was not able to thank my old and valued friend, the father, but I put the son on my staff and now I have the grandson of Gen. Grant and the grand nephew of Gen. Lee and the son of Phil Sheridan on my staff. I think it is a middling good staff too.

Men of His Regiment.

In my regiment, organized at the beginning of the Spanish-American War, I think that there were more men whose fathers wore the gray than there were men whose fathers wore the blue. The only rivalry that ever entered their heads was rivalry as to which man could show himself best entitled to the praise of having done all that in him lay for our country and our flag.

I noticed that the statue of Stonewall Jackson has been raised as a gift by certain Englishmen. The best biography of Gen. Jackson was by an Englishman, Col. Henderson. It is a curious and lamentable fact that one died just as he was about to undertake another biography, which I had earnestly asked him to undertake. I had written him urging that he should finish his very remarkable military study of Stonewall Jackson by writing a military biography of Gen. Lee, and he had written me back that he intended to do so. Shortly afterward I learned of his death.

Gentlemen, I cannot sufficiently express to you my deep appreciation of the way in which you have greeted me to-day. You cannot be nearly so glad to see me as I am to see you. Let me say once more what I said in my formal address. Think of the good fortune that is ours, as a people, in having each of us, whether we are in our own persons or through our ancestors, wore the blue or the gray, the proud right to challenge as our own all of the valor, all of the self-devotion, all of the steadfast adherence to right as God gave, to each man to see the right, shown alike by the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray in the great contest that was waged from '61 to '65.

We clip from Southern School Journal the following plain statement concerning Prof. Lowhorn, who is a candidate for School Superintendent of Casey county. It is not the intention of this paper to meddle with matters not rightfully ours, and while Mr. Lowhorn is seeking a public position in an adjoining county, yet, it carries such responsibilities and is so closely interwoven with the development and advancement of this part of the State that we feel disposed to speak a good word when merit sustains it. The Journal says: "Prof. J. S. Lowhorn, President of the Middleburg Normal College, is the Democratic nominee for school superintendent of Casey county, with good prospects for winning, although the county is Republican by a big majority. Prof. Lowhorn is a graduate of the State College, and one of the most competent educators in the State. He would make a model officer, and a host of friends are hoping he will win in November. Prof. J. A. Sharon, of the Paris Schools, has the following to say concerning prof. Lowhorn.

"I have learned that Prof. J. S. Lowhorn of Middleburg, will make the race for Superintendent of Schools in Casey county. I am glad to know this. We should have just such men to guide and inspire the school forces of each county in the State. His opponent must be a very strong man or old Casey will roll up a very strong majority for Lowhorn. Politics should not interfere to defeat the school interests of a county when such material can be had.

I feel a special interest in this affair, because Prof. Lowhorn was Principal of our school for two years, during which time I learned of his ability. He can handle difficult situations in many ways and is therefore, preeminently equipped to do a great work for his native country. If the Casey voters do what they think is best for their children, they will see that Lowhorn is harnessed to their educational car for the next four years at least."

Virgie Bowers, who killed a prominent Knox county man near London, a short time ago, was tried in the Laurel circuit court and given a life sentence. Such a verdict for cold blooded murder so enraged the friends of the dead man as to form a mob and hang Bowers. It was accomplished in short order. No one can defend the mob or any one who participated in the hanging and while it does not redound to the good name of that section or this State, yet it shows that juries ought not to be forced to inflict punishment for such crimes, but only determine the guilt or innocence and the degree of crime of the party charged, and the law should place the punishment. Again we say that a life sentence is not equal to death and no legislature or any other body can make it so. It looks like the criminal laws should be so changed as mete out justice and satisfy the people.

In another column will be found the names of W. F. Neat, Democratic candidate for County Judge, J. H. Yotng for County Court Clerk, and J. A. Diddle, for Sheriff. For some time these gentlemen have been urged to make the race and at last have consented to do so and their names will reach the ticket through petition of legal voters of the county. These gentlemen are too well known to need any introduction from us and it goes without saying that no better men have ever sought responsible positions in the affairs of this county. Mr. Neat, known nearly to every voter, is preeminently qualified to make a County Judge. His knowledge, his experience and his freedom from rancorous partisan bias and spirit has pointed him out to the people as the man amongst men for this responsible position. Mr. Young and Diddle are both successful business men, upright and honest, industrious and courageous, embodying every qualification necessary to fill the positions they seek with credit to themselves and profit to the county.

Mr. J. H. Gallagher has been appointed Traveling Passenger agent of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway Co., vice Mr. Geo. L. Garrett resigned. Mr. Gallagher was for four years chief clerk of General Passenger Department in charge of the advertising and made a most efficient official. The promotion is much deserved one and we bespeak a successful administration under the guidance of Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. James A. Shuttleworth, a wealthy Louisville merchant, has given to Caldwell College, of Danville, 14 acres of land adjoining the College property, valued at $30,000. It is the purpose of the donor to furnish the South with a school equal to Vassar. Mr. Shuttleworth was born and reared in Campbellsville.

Judge Baker adjourned court at Jamestown last Saturday, after completing all work on the docket. It was a short, speedy term which redounds to the good of the State in the reduction of expenses. Thousands of dollars could be saved by the commonwealth if courts were pushed as private business.

Look over the Democratic ticket, as presented in this issue, and you will be convinced that it is made of our best material and worthy the support of every citizen who believes in competent men for responsible positions.

On the 18th, T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise National Bank, Allegheny, Penn., committed suicide. Short of course, it's awful to be a cashier, it seems.

The Democratic ticket of this county is not a full one, but as good as any party or people could present so far as it goes.

A military company is being organized at Middlesboro.

FREE TRAINING OF NURSES.

By the terms of a fund to be administered in connection with the Philadelphia School of Nurses, Withered Building, Philadelphia, a number of young women from every county will receive free training in nursing. It is planned to ultimately reach and help in this way every village and township. The young women will be provided with room, board, nurse uniforms and all the refinements of a well-appointed Christian home. At graduation the diploma of the School and the Order of the Red Cross will be conferred, qualifying for practice in any state or county; the railroad fare will then be paid back home. Those applying and chosen to receive the benefits of this fund will be given two years training, with a rich experience in nursing the sick poor of the city under skilled leaders. The term may be shortened to eighteen months by taking a preliminary course of six months' reading and study at home. A special short course enables young women to quickly qualify themselves for self-support and a substantial income. In addition to regular nursing, the young women are taught to preserve their own health; how to recognize, avoid and destroy contagion; how to establish and maintain perfect sanitary conditions about the home; they are prepared for positions as office nurse and physician's assistants. They get a practical knowledge of city and town movements, deaconess training, college settlement work, and are trained for special positions of trust in institutions. The school is ten years old and is endorsed by physicians, leading educators and prominent men throughout the country.

Russell-Clark.

At the home of the brides aunt, Mrs. Curd, in Bowling Green, Ky., on Tuesday, 9 a. m., a beautiful and impressive ceremony by Dr. R. W. Browder united the lives of two young people in the presence of a few friends of the contracting parties, Dr. C. M. Russell, of Columbia and Miss Angeline Clark, of Bowling Green. Dr. Russell is a practicing physician who enjoys the confidence of our people, not only as a physician, but as a lighted gentleman. Miss Clark is a young lady of accomplishments and is held in high esteem by the people of this little city as well as in Bowling Green, where she was reared and educated. Her acquaintance here is due to her connection with the Lindsay-Wilson school, last year, as music teacher, while her many friends were made by the attractiveness of true womanly virtues that adorn her every day life. The people of Columbia generally and the News especially extend congratulations, and welcome this happy couple to our city, who are to arrive here Thursday.

Victim of Old Bunco Game.

G. H. Williams, of Campbellville, reported to the detectives' office that he was buncoed out of $70 this morning at the Tenth-street and Broadway station by two strangers, whom he met shortly after his arrival from Taylor county. Williams and the men became fast friends. One of the strangers said he must have $70 before the bank opened and gave Williams a check for $900 to hold, when he made the borrow. Williams is still holding the check.—Louisville Times.

Preparations have been made to make the services at the Baptist Church next Thursday evening very interesting. Dr. J. S. Gaton, of Campbellville, will deliver a discourse and assist in the devotion of two deacons. Miss Levee Powers, of Knoxville, Tenn., who is visiting Mrs. J. P. Scruggs, will render a solo.

BATTLE.

On Streets of Campbellville Between Officers and Moonshiners.

Quite a battle occurred at Campbellville early Wednesday evening between officers and three men, two of whom are unknown, who were disposing of a barrel of moonshine whiskey which they had in a two horse wagon. One of the men on the wagon was captured, but the other two escaped. The one caught was John Bell, a resident of Clark Creek, Green county.

Shortly after the three men with the barrel in the wagon appeared in Campbellville, the officers got wind of it, and sent a negro, Sam Vancleave, to learn what the men were disposing of. He informed the officers, and Chief of Police Wm. Sanders and Mayor Walling summoned a posse for the purpose of capturing the men. Those on the wagon had evidently become suspicious of Vancleave, for as soon as the posse appeared, they opened fire and ran. The fire was returned, but the men on the wagon, with the exception of Bell, escaped. Vancleave was shot in the shoulder, but so far as known, no one else was hurt. The horses and wagon and whiskey were confiscated, and will be sold by the government.

Bell will be brought here and tried to-morrow morning at ten o'clock before United States Commissioner, Chas. C. Boldrick, at Lebanon, Pa. The above shows that the officials of Campbellville are not only game but have the good of their town and community at heart. Peace and prosperity can not be enjoyed where whiskey reigns. If every town in the country would go after the peddlers of whiskey like Campbellville, a sale would soon be limited only to the few of the most daring.

Casey Belies Narry in Louisville.

Miss Carrie Harmon left Dunville Sunday to meet Dr. J. D. Combest, formerly of Phil but lately of Jonesville, Ky., where they are united in marriage. The bride is a handsome, educated and amiable lady, and can count herself worthy to be the bride of so nice a gentleman as Dr. J. D. This paper extends best wishes.

Miss Hattie Candiff, the beautiful daughter of W. E. Candiff, left at the same time to be married to Mr. Fred Reigle in Louisville. Miss Hattie is an industrious, refined lady, and will make a true wife to whoever may have won her. A thousand boys will regret that her choice was other than one of her near acquaintances, and hope she is married to a gentleman worthy of so good a lady.

The above weddings were solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wilkins by Eld. W. C. Montgomery, of this city.—Casey News.

Those who laughed at the solicitors for funds to build the Lindsay-Wilson School ought to now realize the magnetic touch given Columbia. Everything is moving and the future looks it takes schools to bring into our inland towns the most desirable citizens. We have the attractions and the people, the kind we want, are coming, coming.

T. J. and V. M. Epperson, Administrators. 2t

There was preaching at the Presbyterian, Methodist and Christian churches, last Sunday, and an all day singing in the court house and yet good audiences at every place. This shows the prevailing sentiment of our people, it marks them as a church going people. Why should any man who loves the good and wants to give his children an education, longer wait to take up his abode in Columbia.

The meeting at the Christian church is still in progress and growing in interest every day. Eld. J. Q. Montgomery expounding the scriptures with great power. His sermon last Sunday, subject, "The Church of Christ," was pointed, forcible, and entertaining and the large audience seemed delighted. Attend this meeting and you will be well paid.

Mr. J. E. Murrell who has been connected with the News from its first issue to date has retired from newspaper work and will devote his time and talent to insurance. Miss Verna Dobony is employed as sales lady in the cloak and skirt department in L. W. Walters store. Miss Dobony is well qualified to fill this important station with credit to herself, profit to her employer and comfort to all customers.

The subject of Dr. Powell's lecture to be given in this city at an early date, is "Citizenship in a Republic." If there is any thing in a subject, we predict the lecture will be interesting from beginning to end; however, Dr. Powell is always interesting.

Mr. Wm. Irvin purchased from Fairbanks, Morse and Co. through their agents here, W. F. Jeffries and son, the Jack of All Trades engine heretofore used in the News office. Mr. Irvin will use it completely overhauled by Mr. Helms of Eato, before using it, when this is done we predict that it will run as well as when first put to use.

Mr. H. C. Walker, of Gradyville, was at the Old Soldiers Home at Pee Wee Valley near Louisville, last week, to visit Mr. J. W. Nelson. Mr. Walker found him much improved in health, his leg being entirely healed, and able to go on crutches. Mr. Walker found the home ideal in every particular and the Old Soldiers enjoying it.

The Singing last Sunday, in the court house, was highly enjoyed by the many present, and so many were there in the afternoon, as to crowd the large hall and leave many on the outside. It was our pleasure to hear a few songs led by Mr. J. S. Stapp, and the music was so soul stirring as to make us long for another, just like this one, in the near future. We did not hear other leaders, but in justice to Mr. Stapp we desire to say that there is music in his voice.

Mr. W. L. Farris one of our best citizens and farmers, had a sale of his personal property, at his home last week, to the heavy wagon traffic on the Powell farm. He has not yet reached a depth of 100 feet due to breakage of various kinds. At any rate Mr. Russell takes a rosy view of the situation and says he is confident of a good strike later on. At present oil and water is flowing from the well.

Mr. George W. Cook one of our best citizens received a very painful injury last Friday while cutting cane. Some hot water or other cane seed fell on and hit the pupil of his left eye almost destroying it. Medical attention was given and Mr. Cook can now partially see. Unfortunately he lost the sight of his right eye while young and should this hurt prove fatal to that eye he will be totally blind.

Every cent of the proceeds of the Powell lecture will be invested in a worthy cause. Let every true citizen of Columbia and Adair county contribute to make this one of the most enjoyable occasions of the season. You will not only be entertained while listening to the matchless eloquence of Dr. Powell, but he will give you something to take home with you and think about. Lend him your presence on the evening of November 2nd, and you will never regret doing so.

Gov. J. R. Hindman dropped into our office one day last week and in conversation he stated: "I notice that my friend Tim Collins has gained a notoriety as a pumpkin man and I believe in the length of the aforesaid gentleman in length of vine and size of product. I planted three hills and all grew well. There are one or two vines in circumference and tipped the scales at 60 pounds. There were quite a number of other very large ones but the weighing job was too much for me. Mr. Collins can get a few seed from some of the best specimens on the condition that he will agree to enrich his garden and properly work them."

Millinery Display.

I have just returned from the market with a beautiful line of Fall and Winter millinery, which will be on display Friday. All the ladies of Adair and adjoining counties are invited to call.

MRS. S. C. STRANGE.

Dr. J. D. Russell, manager for the Adair Oil Company is experiencing much trouble in his drilling on the Powell farm. He has not yet reached a depth of 100 feet due to breakage of various kinds. At any rate Mr. Russell takes a rosy view of the situation and says he is confident of a good strike later on. At present oil and water is flowing from the well.

The good condition of our roads for the last two months has been of much worth to the heavy wagon traffic from the county to Columbia, principally due from lumber and staves and largely composed of the latter. Some days the Square has almost been blocked with wagons and it is not an uncommon thing to see 8 to 10 wagons loaded with barrel material coming in at one time.

Robert Watson, a young man living near Watson, in the Green river country, accidentally shot himself Monday morning while handling a revolver he thought to be unloaded. The ball passed through his thigh and lodged in the calf of his leg. Fortunately the ball missed the main artery and he is getting along as well as could be expected.

We call attention to the advertisement of the Columbia Steam Laundry in this issue, a new and needed industry for this section now in operation. Its first work was present'd last week as good as any one could desire. Remember that this enterprise is local and dependent on local patronage and so long as it gives good results it is the duty of every citizen to give aid. Read the advertisement.

Dr. E. L. Powell, who is soon to lecture in this city, is one of the ablest and most eloquent speakers of Louisville. He has been pastor of the First Christian church, that city, for the past fifteen years, and it is conceded that he preaches to the largest congregations of any minister in the city. Services are frequently held by him at Masonic hall's theater, on which occasions that magnificent auditorium is filled to overflowing. His sermons are often published in the Louisville papers and read with interest by the people of the entire nation.

For Sale.

My farm on Petty's Fork, five miles South of Columbia, containing 265 acres, of bottom land, good building, plenty water and timber. The farm is in a good state of cultivation.

J. R. Johnson.

Arrangements have been made for a lecture once a month at the Lindsay-Wilson school during the Winter. Dr. Gross Alexander, Dr. Tigart, Dr. F. M. Thomas have promised to deliver one each. Dr. Pinson also is expected to deliver at least one during the present term. These lectures will prove profitable as well as entertaining to the students and citizens of this section who enjoy hearing deep thinkers on timely topics.

John Troutman, son of Mrs. Mollie Troutman, of the Bliss county, while out squirrel hunting Monday morning happened to a very painful accident. Young Troutman was in the act of shooting a squirrel when the animal moved and as he lowered the gun it was discharged, the ball entering his ankle coming out the bottom of his foot. The wound is a very painful one, but we trust that it will heal rapidly and Mr. Troutman will soon be out again.

An unusually good paper, from Jamestown, appears in this issue of the News. It would render the paper more worth if our correspondents in the different parts of the county and adjoining counties would take a little more interest in their reports. It would also be worth more to their respective communities. Correspondents wake up and put your wit to work. If no one is reporting from your community, remember that a good report is always acceptable.

We desire to tender our thanks to the many subscribers in Casey and Russell counties who came forward last week with the cash. A paper cannot exist without means, and a county paper is largely dependent on its subscribers. There are many yet in arrears, and we trust that every person knowing himself to be indebted to the office will settle the same at an early day. We have just put in a four new power engine and some other fixtures that necessitated the expenditure of nearly $400, and to be plain, we need the money. You may owe only $1, but there are hundreds of such accounts on our books which means a good sum when bulked. A statement will be mailed you just as soon as your account can be reached.

LIMIT TO SUN'S LIFE.

ASTRONOMER SAYS GREAT ORB GROWS SMALLER.

Old Sol Still Has 24,000,000 Years to Exist, However—English Scientist Declares Tremendous Force Is at Work.

London.—The prodigality with which the sun dispenses heat and the possibilities which arise from this prodigality have formed the subject of an address delivered by the great astronomer, Sir Robert Ball, the other night.

He could not escape from the operation of the simple rule, he said, that as it gave out heat the sun's body must get smaller. What the sun would become in the future he could not say, but if one could go to the sun with a measure he would find that it had shrunk 16 inches in 24 hours.

Ten million years ago the sun was nearly a million times larger than at present, and the simple principle that a red-hot poker is a trifle larger than when cold must also apply to the sun.

The most important question regarding the sun, he said, is the manner in which its heat is kept up. Supposing every particle of coal were taken from the earth and poured into the sun, how long would it keep that orb going?

It is a scientific truth, the lecturer declared, that the entire coal supply of the world would not give the sun's heat for more than the ten thousandth part of a single moment of time.

This prodigality of heat cannot be kept up by combustion; there must be some tremendous force of energy. That is, however, an idea which is assuming a clearer and more definite shape, which gives proof how the sun's heat is kept up.

The sun, it was said, by the mere fact of attraction of its particles, gives out as much heat as could be got from burning 8,000 globes of coal. When this calculation is worked out, and it is remembered that it is not only the earth that the sun gives heat, it shows that the sun might be kept going for 24,000,000 years.

A suggestion was made that the extinction of the sun's energy has been due to radiation. If radiation was in the sun, as it was in the bulk of earth, then instead of a paltry 24,000,000 years of life allowed to the sun it would be 1,000,000,000 years.

GAS TO PROPEL VESSELS.

Day of Steamship Is Believed to Be Passing Away—May Be Called "Gasser."

St. Louis.—If a vessel propelled by steam power is called a "steamer," should a vessel in which the motive power is gas be called a "gasser"? The query is prompted by the possibility that in the not far distant future marine propulsion will be largely effectuated by means of explosion engines, whose fuel will be gas generated on board.

For stationary purposes, plants of this description have already been erected on a large scale, and more than one firm of engineers is said to be engaged in perfecting a combined plant, consisting of engine and gas generator, which shall be lighter and occupy less space than the present combination of steam boilers and engine.
The gas used is known as producer gas, and is to all intents and purposes, steam or water vapor passed through incandescent coke in a special form of furnace. The resultant gas is a combination of carbon monoxide, hydrogen and nitrogen.

Utilizing the fuel in this manner is claimed to effect a very appreciable economy as compared with burning it under a boiler to generate steam.
Indeed, it has been estimated that one pound of fuel will thus go as far as three pounds in the latter method.
This on a long voyage not only means the reduction of the coal bill, but also a corresponding decrease in cargo space or passenger accommodation.
Experts say it behooves steamship companies to pause before adopting the steam turbine in a wholesale manner.

MISSIVE COMES TOO LATE.

German Student Kills Himself Just as Aid Comes from Home in Bremen, Germany.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Carl Oldenberg, 24 years old, and believed to belong to an excellent family in Bremen, Germany, was found dead in his bed at a boarding house. A towel was hanging over the keyhole and the gas was turned on full. Oldenberg came to this country from Bremen about three years ago. He had converted his money at first, but when his funds began to grow low he secured a position. He lost this position about a month ago and since then has been anxiously awaiting a remittance from his parents in Bremen. He wrote to them about two weeks ago, and for the past two or three days has been eagerly expecting a reply.

Oldenberg came in late the night before and went to his room. The next morning about ten o'clock the long-expected letter from Bremen arrived.
As the landlady approached the door with the cheerful news she detected the odor of gas.

Oldenberg's door was opened and he was found lying on the bed, dead. There was a letter on the dresser and addressed to his mother in Bremen, and a photograph on a stand, on the back of which was written in German:

"The play has come to an end; I have played my last card. My address is 17 Nicholas street, Bremen."

The photograph was that of a group of seven young Germans, evidently students, and a cross was placed by

SOLVE LAKE MYSTERY

A DIVER LOCATES SCHOONER WRECK OF 14 YEARS AGO.

Fishermen's Nets Become Caught in Derelict Vessel Off Michigan Port—Investigation Follows—Various Surmises.

Michigan City, Ind.—A lake mystery of several years is believed to have been solved by the discovery of a wrecked three-masted schooner ten miles north-east of this port and three miles off New Buffalo, Mich.

Some days ago fishermen from New Buffalo discovered a derelict vessel off that port, their nets becoming caught on the vessel. The discovery was reported to Capt. A. A. Kent, of the life-saving station of this city, who, with his crew and Diver George Culbert, went to New Buffalo and made investigations. Diver Culbert located the wreck in 56 feet of water.

Instead of the wreck, as it was believed of the steamer Chicago, of the Graham & Morton Transportation company, which was lost in a gale on the night of January 1, 1891, while en route to St. Joseph from Chicago, with her crew of 26 men, the wreck, the diver found, was a three-masted schooner, 175 feet long and resembling the schooner Thomas Hume, belonging to the late Charles Hackley, of Muskegon, which mysteriously disappeared during a July night 14 years ago.

The Hume and her companion boat, the Hans Simons, left Chicago for Muskegon, both sailing light. On the following day the Simons arrived at Muskegon, but the Hume was never again heard of, notwithstanding the fact that thousands of dollars were spent in an effort to locate the missing vessel.

The Hume carried a crew of seven men, none of whom reached shore. Diver Culbert reports that he searched the wrecked schooner carefully for a name, but found none, her hull having been carried away. Diver Culbert says the vessel's hold was nearly filled with sand and that it was impossible to search for the remains of the vessel's crew.

BARS FLIRTING IN CHURCH

Sloux City, Ia., Y. M. C. A. Secretary Claps Ban on Chats Behind Hymn Books.

Sloux City, Ia.—No more tender messages and exchange of confidences will be permitted between Pretty Sue and Gallant, behind sheltering hymn books in Sloux City churches. If the suggestion of Secretary Hellman, of the Y. M. C. A., to the ministerial association is followed out.

Secretary Hellman was defending the Y. M. C. A. against the general charge that the association does not insist on its mission in that it fails to get a greater number of young men into the churches.

"Would you think of putting a new-born babe into an ice box?" inquired the secretary with asperity. "That is what it would be like for young men to go to the churches as they are now generally conducted. We got 14,000 young men into our association rooms last year and threw about them good influences and got them to attend our Sunday meetings. What the church should do is to have its representatives at our building to show our young men that the churches are attractive."

"The young men you have attending your churches are usually accompanied by young women, and I tell you a young man is not susceptible to religious teaching when he sits beside a young woman and has the opportunity to visit with her. They ought to be free from this temptation and the churches should look after the young men and not complain because the Y. M. C. A. does not do it all."

KING OF FINANCE TO QUIT

J. P. Morgan Jr.'s Election to Directors Leads to Prediction of Father's Retirement.

New York.—The retirement of J. Pierpont Morgan in favor of his son, J. P. Morgan Jr., now in charge of the London branch of the banking house, was predicted in Wall street.

The election of Morgan, Jr., to the directorate of the Western Pacific Railway company, the first office he has ever accepted in the United States, was taken in the financial district as confirmation of the report that the son was soon to relieve his father of his business cares.

Now it is said that by January 1, 1906, young Mr. Morgan will have stepped at least partially into his father's shoes on this side of the Atlantic, and that his election as a director of the Western Pacific is the first of such honors in 35 corporations which the elder Morgan is at present a director.

For the past three years the elder Morgan has given more of his attention to charity and art, and less to his vast business interests. His wealth is estimated at from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000.

His neck was broken and he died with little struggling. The crime for which he was executed was an atrocious one. On August 14 he went to the house of Mrs. Bond and tried to assault her, but she escaped. He then went to the home of Mrs. Jasper Case, and finding her alone, assaulted and killed her. ## MARCUM'S REMAINS.

They May Be Buried Up To Settle a Doubt—Grand Jury Deliberated.

Jackson, Ky., Oct. 20.—The grand jury which has been investigating the Marcum murder was dismissed by Circuit Judge Riddle. Commonwealth's Attorney Adams asked Judge Riddle to summon another grand jury, saying that in his opinion the evidence against the jury which had just reported was sufficient to warrant several indictments. Judge Riddle took the matter under advisement. Owing to an alleged discrepancy in the testimony between that given at the trial of Jett and White, Marcum's body may be exhumed and an autopsy held.
